

Abstract

Method and arrangement for optimizing the pulse shape of an amplitude-modulated optical signal

5

The influences on transmission quality caused by chirp and self-phase modulation are at least largely corrected by means of an optimally set operating point of the modulator (2). Suitable criteria are obtained in control loops in order to maintain the optimal setting.

Figure 1

[illegible]